If I were given the chance to be <sup>one</sup>, I would want to be a judge so I could give everyone equal rights, and so I could give everyone what they deserved. I know that during the time of Segregation, blacks weren't treated like whites. That's why I want to be a judge. So I can make sure all people are treated the same. I also want to be a judge because I think it's a good career, too. It's a very important job, and you can make a good living out of it and a difference in the world.
