Notice to Subscriber/Customer

The law enforcement agency listed above has applied to the court for an order to disclose certain of your telephone or internet records. The court granted this order at the date and time listed above.

Under this order, the corporation listed above is required to give the law enforcement agency the following information:

- Call-identifying information, which means dialing or signaling information that identifies the starting point, direction, destination or end of each communication created or received by you through any equipment, facility, or service of a telecommunications provider.
- Basic subscriber information, which could include: your name; address; local and long distance telephone connection records or records of session times and durations; length of service, including start date, and types of services you use; telephone or instrument number or other subscriber number or identity, including any assigned Internet protocol (IP) address; and any source of payment for the service that you use, including any credit card or bank account number.
- The content of your communications.
- Geo-location data related to your call-identifying information, which means information about the location of an electronic device, including the real-time and historical (past) location of the device, that, in whole or in part, is created by, derived from, or obtained by the operation of an electronic device, including, but not limited to a cellular telephone surveillance device.

Under this order, the corporation listed above is required to give the law enforcement agency this information for the period of: _____
